The screenshot shows a developer's environment with three main components:

- Code Editor: An IDE window titled "database.js M X" showing Node.js code for connecting to a PostgreSQL database using the pg module. A red box highlights the connection logic for the "SUPABASE" database.
- Terminal: A terminal window showing the output of a nodemon run. It logs watching paths, extensions, and starting the node app.js. A red box highlights the log message "Connect SUPABASE PostgreSQL database postres on port 6543".
- Browser: A Chrome browser window titled "Blog Demo" showing a blog page at localhost:5001. The page features a header "CSS Grid Using Minmax", two cards under "LIFESTYLE", and two cards under "TRAVEL". Below the cards are images of coffee cups and a bridge at night.
